Your sexual rights!

Knowing your sexual rights is important to protect yourself. It can help you:

- say "NO" if someone wants you to do something that makes you feel uncomfortable
- understand yourself by knowing your body and feelings and feel good about them
- have privacy for yourself
- have healthy relationships

Your body!

- Your body is special and important just the way it is
- It is important to learn the names of all your body parts
- As you grow up, your body will change
- Learning about your own body will help you take care of it

It's ok to say NO!

- Saying "no" to things you do not want is an important skill to learn.
- Always ask for the permission of others before doing something to them.
- Set clear boundaries to others for yourself. Like "this is okay" and "this is not ok"
- Always respect other people's boundaries

Remember:

You are never alone, always reach out to an adult for help.

Understanding your emotions.

- Learning about your feelings is important.
- Talking to grown-ups about them helps you stay safe, feel good, and, if needed, express your fears and ask for help.
- You can express your sexuality in a healthy way and have better friendships that make you feel happier.

From these place, you can get help:

"106 111" -The European helpline is exclusively for children and teenagers until 18 years of age. Is free of charge and provides you the opportunity to talk anonymously about any subject that concerns you."

Keeping yourself safe.

- Learning safety rules online and offline is important to keep you safe.
- Always speak to a trusted adult if something worries you or feels wrong.
- A trusted adult can be, for example, a parent, a teacher, a school nurse, or any adult you feel safe with.
